Medieval Bookmaking Quiz

Jun 18, 2010 05:56PM

Lublin told Elefsina that it took three hours to make their initials. Well, think about the medieval scribes (the monks who made manuscripts) who worked all day for a year or less to produce a fine book made for the privileged few who could read and basically, afford it. Have a go! Try it twice and tell us about your progress. Consult the comments generously posted by our readers, so you can construct your knowledge upon the effort of other people.

Reading Relay on St Jerome's Day

Jun 14, 2010 12:48PM

St. Jerome, the patron saint of translators and librarians was a prominent christian scholar of the 5th century. Known for his deep concentration on his reading, he surprised his friend St. Augustine for reading in silence instead of aloud, as was the custom in Antiquity. He is portrayed in Art. with a lion, which, according to the story, came to the monastery seeking the saint to heal his paw of a thorn, and followed him as a pet ever since. Many painters painted their patron bishops and cardinals as St. Jerome, to flatter them. Read more at Kolorowe Armadio

Later on the same day, we had our first videosection, with the students who remained after school hours

Bookmarks.

Jun 7, 2010 09:42AM

Booklovers not only love books but also they love every things connected with books and reading. They collect and make creative bookmarks. Readers care about the aesthetic quality of reading. They admire beauty of books, places and objects inspired with reading. Our hand-made bookmarks are in découpage and bookscrapping techniques.

...which inspired us in Elefsina to make paper jewels! Click here for the printable edition!

"Bookmarks. A happy thriller" Bookmarks, made of any kind of material, but mostly paper, are small works of art. They carry information about the time they were made and reflect the aesthetics of their creators.

Collecting bookmarks is a journey, a personal adventure; it is an endless field trip, a passion like any other: it includes searching, sacrifices and dedication. Bookmarks show me around the universe of books, they inform me, they take me all around the world, the languages, the cultures. They keep me far better company than anything else that has enchanted me in the past. I hold them, spin them in my hands, understand their "language". They're my cat, my dog and my joy.

Their simplicity pleases me, since they have yet to become officially a collector's item, as stamps, coins and other objects have become. I find them in book stores, I trade them with collectors all over the world, whom I later befriend and who make up my very own "international village".

Categorized in dossiers on bookshelves, they are a different kind of book case in the house, just as warm and friendly, a book case with very small two-paged books, which can be browsed through and read just like the most exciting thriller.

One bookmark for one class. The Dewey classification system in Elefsina school library through bookmarks here! Apart from the ten classes, there are bookmarks to show the rest of the collection, such as the digital part (cds, dvds) the Greek literature bookmark, the Internet bookmark (no library is conceivable without it!) etc.

Book fashion.

Jun 7, 2010 08:55AM

This school year we popularized book fashion. The most important advantage is design clothings and jewellery from materials you use in a library. We designed dresses, skirts, hats, T-shirts and necklaces. We used foil, newspapers, covers, plastic bag, CD, postcards and bookmarks. We hope somebody would like to go to school or library party dressed in this kind of eco-friendly clothing.

Create your own video slideshow at animoto.com.

In Elefsina we made accessories from newspapers, magazines and cds to go with Lublin eco-clothing!

Designing new shelves

Jun 4, 2010 08:25AM

Redecoration started by turning old books and cds into shelves. The Russian princess was made to publisize Russian fairy tales in our collection. Detail: the figure was made by Christina, half Polish, half Greek, now a student in University and a keen cyclist. Take a look at N.M.'s suggestions of a bookshelf below. You can even include an aquarium!

Thank you, Lublin, for the idea and the inspiring links!

Cleaning in the library

Jun 2, 2010 05:30PM

"Stay where you are!" I said to Katerina, whom I caught reading as she came to dust the library shelves. "Can you just put the duster under your arm?" She did. This was not a chance to be lost. Katerina, our bookloving cleaning lady and library member, took the same stance with the Paxton maid, a painting of the early 1900s. Leaving the dreary work aside for just a glimpse at a good book just enough to start dreaming yourself into a better world.

The Library Redecoration Month just couldn't kick off without a good cleaning!

Το μέλος της βιβλιοθήκης μας και ο άνθρωπος που καθαρίζει τον χώρο μας σαν να ήταν δικός του, η Κατερίνα, θύμωσε τον πύρακα του Πάξτον με την κοπέλα που αφήνει τις δουλειές για λίγη μαγεία από τα βιβλία. Το μόνο που ζήτηρα ήταν να αλλάξει την θέση του φερρό. Θυμάμαι την σύμπτωση!

Magical reading garden.

Jun 1, 2010 11:19AM

Art and books inspire readers. Every woman likes reading in the garden. You can see it in presented photos and painting. Art shows and teaches us too that time isn't important and that it connects people. Our photo shoot was a nice experience, and we all enjoyed ourselves enormously. Try to say :

Which painting is in the original? (An Author and Title)

Do you know persons in next photos? (Names)

Can you make a suggestion about reading? (Quotes)

"A book is like a garden carried in a pocket." (Chinese proverb). For keen readers is so beautiful like a favorite flower, for those who don't like reading is like a cactus.

We hope you agree with us. Show us "your reading garden" please.

Well, here you are:

Redecorated libraries in June.

Jun 1, 2010 07:44AM

Look at our libraries. We show how they looked in June. Say us what do you see similar? Do you like our redecorations? Can we inspire you? Is it important in your opinion to redecorate libraries from time to time? We prepared comfortable places to reading, funny and modern designs and book gifts.

School library Mystery

May 28, 2010 02:32PM

Ever thought about how the library angel sees the library? Or even the fairies that come out of the Fairy Story department or Pimio the library companion? Well, take a look at the slideshow above and start looking at thing from a different point of view!

Πώς άραγε να φαίνεσαι η βιβλιοθήκη στον Πίσιο, την μικρότερη βιβλιοθήκη, ή στον Άγγελο της Ανάγνωσης που σου λύνει όλες τις απορίες, ή ακόμα στις νεκροβούλες που το βράδυ βραιοε έδουν από τον τόμο της Αυτογνωσίας;

Ας μάθουμε να βλέπουμε την βιβλιοθήκη και τον κόσμο με άλλον τρόπο...
